

This Barden record is the result of many year's research by several persons unknown to one another, widely separated and searching for their ancestors. This combines their efforts into one record. These persons, many with much genealogical experience, all agree that the Barden family is the most difficult to trace of all the families they have encountered. One reason for this is that many of them moved often, bought no land, left no wills, and forgot to erect headstones. They also managed to avoid the census taker. Another reason they are so hard to trace is the name itself; when the name Barden is spoken, it may be misunderstood by a clerk or census taker. It appears on the census records as Borden, Bordin, Bowden, McBarden, Bardeen, Bardin, Bordean, etc. When the word Barden is spoken to a clerk or lawyer, and written or printed in an index, it may appear as Burden, Bardens, etc.

Another fact that confused early historians and genealogists was that the first Bardens, and Bordens in Massachusetts, both lived in southern parts of the state and had the same given names, like John, William, and Joseph. Credit for untangling the early generations and compiling correct Barden data goes to Ruth Story Eddy, of Providence, RI. She graduated from Brown University, where she specialized in research and was granted degrees of A.B. and A.M., with Phi Beta Kappa. She was compiler of the excellent Eddy genealogy. Her manuscript "The Ancestry and Descendants of Isaac Barden" can be found in Providence in the Library of the Historical Society. Living in Providence near the home of the early Bardens, she was able to study the early town records, deeds and wills and to search cemeteries. She found and corrected many errors in the town histories and even in Borden genealogy. She was a careful and experienced searcher, with excellent judgement, and no mistakes in her work have been found. Mrs. Eddy has passed on, but the compilers of this record have the permission of her children to use the data in her manuscripts as a basis for the start of this record.

Another early Barden record was prepared by Ezra Cornelious Potter and called the "Barden Blue Book." This record is sketchy and confuses Bardens and Bordens. The compilers of this record have been unable to confirm connections which Potter has given to the early Bardens. Sources of information were not recorded. Information he gathered from later descendants is considered more reliable.

A third Barden record is found in the book "Vermont Once No Man's Land," compiled by Merritt C. Barden. Most of the Bardens records in that book are descendants of John Barden of Freetown, Mass. In writing about John's ancestry, the author states: "As there is no actual proof of the above I leave the enigma to my kin." Most of the data on the descendants of John we have checked against vital records of Vermont, and we have found them correct. The Vermont book contains much data on early Bardens in England dating back to 1000 A.D. (page 99). Near the front of the book are shown the Barden and Borden Coats-of-Arms. They are almost identical, proving, the author says, that they are or were once the same family. On page 66 of that book is a map and a photograph of one of the six Barden Towers near Bolton, Yorkshire, England. It is said the Bardens, owned thousands of acres of land in the valley of the River Warf, and is called "Barden" on a very old map. The book also states that after the coming of William the Conqueror in 1066, the Barden estates were confiscated and taken over by the Cliffords, and the Bardens may have been driven to Scotland and Ireland.

No family genealogy can be complete and this is less complete than most. Few of the Barden's now living in this country will be found in this record, but nearly all will find their early ancestors recorded here. In addition to the early work of Ruth Eddy, Merritt Barden, and Ezra C. Potter, a vast amount of research has been done by Charles Livingood of Washington, DC, George Livingood of Seattle, Washington and Mary R. Porter of Provo, Utah, who is also taking an interest in its publication. The text is written by Leon R. Brown of Rochester, New York. Thanks goes to Jackie Jackson of Pleasant Grove, Utah - Typist.

There are some errors in the Vermont book that will be pointed out to readers; on page 115 it is stated that Edward Barden, who married Patience Barrows, was a son of John Barden and Hannah Chamberlain; but John's son Edward, born 1789, was born 60 years too late. On page 90 is shown John Barden, descended from Richard Borden, which we think is wrong. But a statement that Tiverton was "afterwards a part of Freetown, Massachusetts," if true, helps clear up deed records we have found, where Abraham Barden and William (perhaps his son), bought land in Tiverton and Freetown.

In compiling a family history there are sometimes instances where sure proofs, such as vital records, and wills, are lacking. This has been true in this record. In such cases other evidences or a combination of other evidences maybe effective. Such evidence may consist of census records, persons living next door or near each other, given names appearing frequently in a family, families living near each other in one place and later found near one another in another place, perhaps in another state, etc. It is sometimes possible to prove that no other person could have been the parent of certain children.

The author of the history of Middleboro, Mass., where William Barden and all his children lived at one time, stated that all the Bardens in this country probably descended from William of this record. While this may not be entirely true today, it appears to be generally true. So, if we or the sources of our information have been wrong in choosing the wrong brother as the parent of someone, not too much damage has been done. However, where doubt exists it has been so stated. We hope sometime that someone with plenty of time and resources will attempt to improve and complete this record. In order to make this a single record with a connected sequence, it has been necessary in one or two instances to use a genealogist's judgement (not a guess) in connecting two branches of the family. The evidence back of such decisions is given in each case.

In compiling the record, usual genealogical methods have been followed. The generations are separated and follow one another. Bardens are numbered consecutively according to ages of children. William Barden is number one. His oldest child is number two, etc. Daughters of Bardens are numbered and wherever possible their husbands and children are given. An asterisk (*) before a child's name indicates the name has been continued, and a write-up or more about the family will be found in its proper order, in the next generation. Sources of information have been indicated where not apparent and in recent generations where it has been garnered personally, or by letters from the family, in order to save space and condense the record, common genealogical abbreviations have been used as follows:

First Generation

1. WILLIAM BARDEN, who was born about 1624, came to this country from England in the year 1638 as a covenant servant of Thomas Boardman.

According to the "Pioneers of Massachusetts" by Pope, William was bound for seven years' service, and on December 1, 1638, after having served Boardman for only seven months, he was transferred to John Barker of Marshfield for the rest of the period, to learn the trade of a brick-layer. He was classified as being able to bear arms in 1643 (Pope). His service with Barker terminated in 1645, indicating that William was twenty-one years of age that year.

John Barker was a proprietor in Marshfield, about ten miles north of Plymouth, as early as Nov. 5, 1638, where he performed his trade as bricklayer and also served as ferryman over the Jones River. It is probable that William Barden was in Marshfield during this period and that he served many a time as boatman. John Barker had purchased this ferry from John, son of Elder Brewster, and in 1652 he was drowned from the ferry (at little Bridge) and his estate was administered 17 Dec. 1652, by his wife. A division was made June 9, 1653, and the three daughters, Anna, Deborah, and Mary, were to receive their shares when twenty-one.

In February 1660/1 William Barden married DEBORAH, daughter of JOHN BARKER, his former master. Savage, in his Genealogical Dictionary, says this marriage occurred in February 1661. "Genealogical Notes and Barnstable Families" gives February 1660 and says that Deborah was born after 1632. There is no conflict in the dates since one is Old Style and the other New Style. The following receipt proves the marriage before March 1, 1660 (Old Style): "I William Barden heretofore of Concord --- do acknowledge my selfe to have received in the right of Deborah my lawful wife, and daughter to John Barker late deceased, the full sume of ten pounds by Abraham Blush to be in hand paid in full of what by order of Court belongeth to the said Deborah my wife as her dowery or legacy and I the said William Burden doe for myself and my wife, our heirs -- Discharge the said Abraham Blush his heirs forever, for all and every part of said ten pounds in witness whereunto I have hereonto set my hand this first of March 1660."

After the death of John Barker, his widow, ANNA, daughter of JOHN WILLIAMS and his wife ANN, married as her second husband, Abraham Blush, whom she married in Barnstable in 1652 or 1653 and who assumed his wife's obligations upon her death in 1657. This receipt also informs us that William Barden, after finishing his service with John Barker, lived for a while in Concord, and in March 1660 was a resident in Duxbury, (Mayflower Descendants Vol. 17, pg. 111).

Deborah, William Barden's wife and daughter of John Barker, was born about 1639. Her grandfather, John Williams, came from London in 1632. He took up a farm on the north side of Scituate Harbor very early and erected his house in 1634. This was a few miles north of Marshfield. Soon after their marriage, Deborah and William went to Middleborough and then to Barnstable, where they remained about twenty years. There they had nearly all their children.

Otis in his "Genealogical Notes of Barnstable Families" (Vol. 1, pg. 66) has this to say about William Barden: "Deborah Barker married William Barden, Burden or Borden. He was, perhaps, one of the youths of good habit, sent over to be bound as apprentice. He came probably in 1638, and was bound to Thomas Boardman, of Plymouth, to learn the carpenter trade. On Jan. 10, 1638/9 six and one-half years of apprenticeship unexpired, Mr. Boardman released him and he was bound to John Barker of Marshfield to learn the trade of bricklayer.

After the expiration of his apprenticeship, he went to Concord, then a mere settlement, and after his marriage resided a short time in Duxbury. From Barnstable he removed to Middleborough, his wife being dismissed from the Barnstable Church to Middleborough in 1683.

On the 31st of October 1666, John Bates and William Burden were fined three shillings, four pence each for breaking the King's peace by striking each other. Burden was drunk at the time and was fined five shillings besides, and Bates was ordered by the Court to pay twenty shillings for abusing him."

The "History of the Town of Middleboro, Mass." by Thomas Weston, (pg. 203) states that the Barden family settled in that part of Middleboro now called Barden Hills. It is the section east of the Four Corners, at Middleboro Center. The book contains a picture of the old Barden House, which has been owned by the Barden family for over 250 years and makes the statement that "Probably all the Bardens (or Burdens) in this country have descended from William Barden" (this may not be true). "He became an owner in nearly all of the purchases from the Indians in town"

The Plymouth Land Records (1.97) contain a deed "William Barden of Middleborough bought land in the 16 Shilling Purchase, which had been bought by Constant Southworth, and John Tomson on March 14, 1675 and April 12, 1675, - one whole share or equal part with the rest of the proprietors." This land was first owned by William Bradford, then Guido Bayley and then William Barden.

William Barden died in Middleboro early in 1692/3 and left a will, but as it was not dated or signed and so was not admitted to probate, although it was taken to court on March 22, 1692/3, and Samuel Fuller testified "that in ye time of ye last sickness of ye above named (William Barden), he visited him and wrote for him the will and William Barden declared the same to be his last will and testament." David Wood also testified that he was present at the time. Widow Deborah Barden was appointed administratrix

The will speaks of his being in a "weak and low condition by reason of sickness, and not knowing how God may deal with me, yet, while I have senses and understanding am now minded to make my last will and Testament." To the two oldest sons he left 100 acres in the Bridgewater bounds at the Titticut River and 100 acres to Abraham and Joseph at Purchade and Abraham, Joseph and Stephen were to give Anna, Mary and Sarah 20 shillings when they became 18 years of age. All the rest of his estate was to belong to his wife.

The estate was not settled until 1713, probably when the last child became of age, but an inventory was taken by John Allyn and Ephraim Tincon in 1693 (Sept. 14) and they valued his "wearing close" 2 pounds 10 shillings, his arms and ammunition 3 pounds 5 shillings, his household stuff 4 pounds 16 shillings, bedding 12 pounds, linen and woolen yarn 2 pounds, cart and all manner of lumber 10 pounds, Indian corn and English corn 15 pounds, the oxen and the cows and hogs 25 pounds, house, land, and meadow 90 pounds, bricks and dirt 3 pounds. The whole estate was thus valued at about 168 pounds, rather a goodly sum in those days even for a man with a wife and thirteen children to support.

In 1713 commissioners were appointed to make the division of the estate among the children or their heirs, and the following agreed to this division: "We, Deborah, relic of William Burden, John Burden, Stephen Burden, Abraham Burden, Joseph Burden, Benjamin Burden, William Burden, Nathaniel Burden, the sons, and Jonathan Morse and Anna his wife, William Thomas and Sarah his wife, Mary Burden and Content Burden, the daughters; and Elizabeth Delano, grandchild, Ebenezer Redding and Mary his wife (granddaughter), said granddaughters being children of Mercy Miller, late of Middleboro, deceased eldest daughter of William Barden." Joseph Rickard and Deborah his wife, also a daughter of Mercy, also signed the settlement.

Deborah, wife of William Barden, was much younger than he. The first mention of her is found in the will of her father, John Barker. She was not yet 21 but was to have a legacy of 3 pounds when she reached that age. As we have seen, this was paid by Abraham Blush in 1661. Her uncle John Williams was appointed her guardian, and she went to live with him in Scituate, Mass. Evidently she felt herself ill-treated by him, for on Oct. 6, 1659, John Williams appeared in Court to answer the complaint of "Robert and Deborah Barker, the daughter of John Barker, deceased, for that he, the said Ensign Williams, was accused of having misused the said Deborah Barker, she having lived with him; he producing many evidences of his innocency in the premises, the Court could not find the accusation to be true, notwithstanding, upon consideration ordered that the said Deborah Barker should not be returned again unto her said Uncle Ensign Williams, but should choose her guardian, and either live with him or be disposed of to some other honest man, to serve as he should think meet, at which time Deborah chose Thomas Bird of Scituate." Evidently Thomas Bird became fond of the young girl, for in his will, dated 4 Feb. 1663, he directs that 5 pounds "be paid her within one year after my decease," (M.D. xvi pg. 124).

Deborah's uncle, John Williams, must have forgiven her any trouble that she had caused him, for there is a clause in his will in which "I give and bequeath to my kinswoman, Deborah Burden, of Middleberry 5 pounds and to each of her children 5 pounds." Deborah's grandfather, John Williams Sr of Scituate, also left her a legacy in his will dated December 19, 1667 (probated March 5, 1667 Old Style) in these words: "To my three grandchildren, daughters of John Barker fifteen pounds, that is to say, to Anna wife of John Pratt the sum of six pounds, to Deborah wife of William Burden the sum of 5 pounds, and to Mary Barker the sum of four pounds."

In Barnstable, Deborah Barden was a member of the church and also upon her removal to Middleboro, in 1683. At that period there was no organized church in Middleboro, but in 1694, when a church was organized, Deborah was one of the twenty persons who established it. For several years the members met at various houses and listened to their beloved Samuel Fuller and, after his death, to Rev. Thomas Palmer.

Deborah made her will May 18, 1721, and it was presented for probate March 7, 1772. It reads as follows: "I Deborah Barden of Middleborough, the wife of William Barden, deceased, being sick to daughter Deborah Dodson to Anna Morse my daughter to daughter Sarah Thomas and daughter Mary and Content." Rudolphus Elms, Isaac Fuller, and Ebenezer Bennett were witnesses.

Thus, from the settlement and division of the estates of William and Deborah we know that they had thirteen children, but only the births of the first seven are found on the records in Barnstable. The approximate dates of the births of the last six children not shown on the records are determined by spacing them between 1677, when the seventh child, Anna, was born, and 1691, twenty-one years before William's estate was distributed. It is apparent that in the distribution agreement in 1713, the sons and daughters are listed in order of age and this order was followed, alternating male and female, except for Sarah who, (from g.s.) we know was born in 1683.

2. MERCY BARDEN, daughter of William and Deborah Barker, was born 1 Nov. 1662 at Barnstable, Mass. and married about 1684 JOHN MILLER of Middleboro, as his 2nd wife. From Plymouth records of the settlement of his estate, we learn that John Miller had six children, three by each wife. Those by his first wife were John who married Lydia Coombs on 12 Feb. 1701, Mary who married Thomas Dexter of Rochester, Mass. and Hannah who married Samuel Pratt. The three below who inherited from William Barden<sup>1</sup>'s estate were Mercy's. Mercy died before 1713, when William's estate was probated. John Miller, Mercy's husband, died in Middleboro 11 May 1720 in his 97th year. He is buried in the cemetery at the Green, opposite the First Church.

Jonathan's first wife Abigail died Nov. 1695, age 44. She probably was the mother of Jonathan Dodson Jr and perhaps others. Deborah was the mother of the following children, born in Scituate, Mass.

John was in a Middleboro census taken 1695, and also on a list of the First Military Co. of Middleboro dated 19 Jan. 1710/1 1. The location of his house in Middleboro is given on a deed filed at Plymouth (DI 54), Dec. 19, 1710: "John" Burden of Middleboro, yeoman for 4 pounds sold to John Foster of Plymouth, blacksmith, --- 1/2 the lot on the south side of the Namsket River, on which lot I dwell -- about 30 acres in extent -- and which I hold in Partnership with my brother Stephen -- bounded on the north by the river, on the south by the pine hills, on the east by Rodolphus Elmes, and on the west by James Warren." This was a mortgage deed, which was discharged by his son Ichabod 23 Dec. 1737.

On 16 Mar. 1713, the year William Barden's estate was distributed, Stephen Barden, mason or bricklayer, Joseph Barden, husbandman or yeoman, Abraham Barden, yeoman, all brothers of Middleboro, bought on or in the 16 Shilling Purchase of John Rickard, which was in the right of Giles Rickard. Benjamin Barden and William Barden witnessed the deed (Plymouth D. 9.422). John Barden died before 1725, (Deed 9.54). Inventory taken 16 Nov. 1724. On 8 April 1725 John's daughter Deborah had a guardian appointed, as she was a minor.

(See Mayflower D. 13 Reg. pg. 252). Stephen was a bricklayer.

As we have seen in 1710 he owned land in common with his brother John and in 1713 in company with his brothers, he bought land in the 16 Shilling Purchase. He later sold this (Deed 9.371) On 18 Oct. 1723, he sold land in 16 Shilling Purchase to his son Stephen Barden Jr (Deed 17.123). On 10 Aug. 1718, Abigail joined the First Church and on 19 Mar. 1719, Stephen died the same. (See "Vt. Once No Man's Land," pg. 124 and Mayflower D. 13, Reg. pg. 252).

Note: James Barden of Medfield and Walpole whose birth record has not been found may have been, and probably was, a son of Stephen #5. He was not a son of William #1 as some genealogists have thought but was probably a grandson and if so Stephen is the only possibility with a child missing in 1693, when James who m. Mehitable Clapp in Medfield 1717 is likely to have been born.

6. ABRAHAM BARDEN, son of William and Deborah, was born May 14, 1674, in Barnstable, Mass. (VR) married in Scituate, Mass. (VR) 20 Oct. 1697 MARY BOOTH, born 6 June 1669, daughter of JOHN BOOTH SR, of Scituate. Mary was a sister of John Booth Jr whose daughter Eunice married Thomas Barden of Scituate and Hanover. There is some evidence but no vital records to prove the fact that Abraham had a previous marriage and was the father of Thomas Barden mentioned above.

Abraham is recorded as being a resident of Middleboro on 12 Nov. 1695 when over 21 years of age, but sometime previous to 13 Sept. 1697 he went to Scituate, Mass., for on that date he gave his residence as Scituate, in a deed when he sold to Thomas Tomson of Middleboro his share of some land in Middleboro. "Having lately been an inhabitant of Middleborough aforesaid."

While in Scituate Abraham erected the Iron Works on Indian Head River. There seems to have been some confusion among historians about the Bardens and the Iron Works. Dean in his "History of Hanover" states that Thomas Barden and his brother Isaac carried on the Ironworks in Scituate, begun by their father Abraham Barden. That statement is correct, but Dean is wrong in his "History of the Town of Scituate" when he states on page 215, "Abraham Bardin was from Scotland." Also Barry in his "History of Hanover" makes the same error on page 22, "The Burdens or Bardens, Isaac and Thomas, descendants of Abraham of Scotland, resided on Broadway and tradition says built the house now occupied by David Hersey. He was proprietor of the "First Forge erected on the Indian Head River, about 1704, where the Curtis Forge now stands, whose dam stretched across the stream from shore to shore and near which the alervine fishery was carried on."

That Abraham was not from Scotland is proven by the above-mentioned deed, but as both authorities agree on calling Thomas a son of Abraham and Barry states that Thomas was a brother of Isaac, whom we know as a son of Abraham and Mary Booth, it is upon this authority that Thomas Barden is added to the children of Abraham. As will be seen Thomas left no male descendants.

Second Generation

It is likely that Abraham sold his rights in the Forge for he returned to Middleboro sometime before 21 Oct. 1709. It is interesting to note that in the Middleboro records there are no births of children recorded to Abraham and Mary from 1702 until 1708, and that the marriages of three of Abraham's children are recorded in Scituate. The birth of Abraham's son Isaac is recorded as occurring in Middleboro in 1708, so it is likely that he left Scituate during that year. We are sure that he was a resident of Middleboro in 1709, when the following sale of land took place: (Plymouth Deeds 14.407) Heirs of John Booth Sr to John Booth Jr mentioned "Abraham Barden of Middleborough and Mary his wife" Also in the deed already mentioned where on 16 Mar. 1713 Abraham united with his brothers in purchasing land in the 16 Shilling Purchase, (Ply. Deeds 9.422) and again 24 Oct. 1713 when Abraham, Joseph, Benjamin, William and Nathaniel "all Middleboro yeomen" purchased land in Package Neck (100 acres) from John Bradford (P.D. 10.340). On 10 Feb. 1727/8 Abraham Barden Sr sold land to Thomas Knowlton, both of Middleboro, - land near Samuel Bennett's land (Ply. Deeds 26.34).

On 24 June 1746 Abraham Barden of Middleborough, "to my son Jacob Barden of Middleborough, land where I now dwell, 40 acres and what I purchased of John Alden, which lieth between the land I sold to my son Joseph and the brook in which our saw mill now stands, and all my outdoor moveables." (Deeds 29.189) Abraham Barden<sup>1</sup>'s name appears on the earliest record of the First Military Company of Middleboro dated 19 Jan 1710/11 and also a member of the First Church of Middleboro, which he joined 20 April 1729. His wife Mary joined on 10 Aug. 1729

The date of the death of Abraham nor his wife Mary has not been found and only the dates of the birth of the children which were recorded in Middleboro. There may have been children born in Scituate when he lived there between 1702 and 1708.

7.            JOSEPH BARDEN, son of William #1 and Deborah, was born in Barnstable, Mass. in Sept. 1675 (VR). There is no record of his marriage nor are we sure that he ever married. In 1717 he was one of a group purchasing land <sup>li</sup>near the Meeting House for a Parish Burying Ground." He may have been the father of Joseph Barden who died 1749 (no probate record cited).

Joseph Barden was admitted as an inhabitant of Middleboro in November 1695 and this note was appended to the record, "Joseph Barden being near of age is admitted as an inhabitant" (Ply. Ct. Record). His name appears in the list of members of the First Military Company of Middle- borough, dated Jan 19, 1710/11. On 11 May 1697 Joseph sold to Thomas Tomsen his share in land belonging "to ye inhabitants and proprietors of Middleborough." On 16 March 1713 "Joseph Barden husbandman and yeoman" joined his brothers in purchasing part of the 16 Shilling Purchase and later the same year, on 24 Oct. 1713 he joined some of his brothers in the purchase of the John Bradford lands at Package Neck (100 acres). The burial plot he helped purchase in 1717 is directly opposite the present First Congregational Church on the road to Plymouth.

8.            ANNA BARDEN, daughter of William # 1 and Deborah, was born 26 Aug. 1677 at Barnstable, Mass. (VR) and about 1700 married JONATHAN MORSE JR. She is mentioned in the will of her mother as "my daughter Anna Morse."

9.            BENJAMIN BARDEN, son of William # 1 and Deborah, was born about 1679 undoubtedly in Barnstable, although not found on the birth records. However, he is mentioned in the settlement of his father's estate in 1713 as one of William's sons. His name appears on the list of the First Military Company of Middleboro dated Jan. 19, 1710/

11. His name also appears in the Land Registry of Deeds as a witness to a deed given on March 16, 1713 by his brother Stephen, and again in the same year, on October 24th, when he buys land in Package Neck of John Bradford, in the company of his four brothers (10.340). On Feb. 1716 Benjamin, William and Nathaniel joined in the purchase of lands in the Little Lots Division (13.88) and on 7 Jan. 1723/4 they sell this land to Ebenezer Morton of Middleboro (14.147) and (17.92). One other transaction appears (15.205), Benjamin Barden of Middleboro sells to "brother Nathaniel" land on the Namsket River.

As no wife signed any of these deeds, and as there is no record of any marriage, it is not presently known if Benjamin left descendants. However, it seems strange that in those days there should be four unmarried brothers all of whom owned property. The lack of wives' signatures on the deeds is not too significant since the known wives of the other Barden brothers do not appear to have signed deeds when land was sold.

10. WILLIAM BARDEN, son of William #1 and Deborah, was born about 1681 probably in Barnstable although not recorded on the birth records. He was however mentioned as one of the sons of William Barden when the latter's estate was settled in 1713. His name is on the list of members of the First Military Company of Middleborough dated January 12, 1710/11 and he appears as a witness on a deed given by his brother Stephen and others (9.422). He was one of the group of brothers who, on 24 Oct. 1713 purchased from John Bradford, 1 00 acres of land on the north side of the Titticut River, against Package Neck (10.340). On 13 Feb. 1716 he united with his two youngest brothers in the purchase of a piece of land in the "Little Lots Purchase" and in the sale of the same to Ebenezer Morton of Middleboro on Jan. 9, 1723/4. This is the last mention of his living in Middleboro. It is not known whether he married and left descendants.

11. SARAH BARDEN, daughter of William and Deborah, was born 1683 probably in Barnstable and married as his second wife 28 Feb. 1704/5 WILLIAM THOMAS SR whose first wife Sarah had died 14 May 1702. By her he had five children Susanna, Sarah, Elizabeth, William and Mary maybe others. Sarah Barden is mentioned in the unsigned will of her father, by which she received a share in the estate, and upon its settlement in 1713 she is spoken of as "Sarah wife of William Thomas." In her mother's will she is called my daughter Sarah Thomas. Sarah died 9 May 1745, age 62 years; William died 5 Apr. 1734, age 70. Children:

12. MARY BARDEN, daughter of William # 1 and Deborah, was born about 1685 perhaps in Middleboro. She is mentioned 1721 in her mother's will. She was then single. Nothing more is known of her.

13. NATHANIEL BARDEN, son of William # 1 and Deborah, was probably born in Middleboro about 1688. There has been no record found of his birth but his name appears in the settlement of his father's estate and also on the list of the members of the First Military Company of Middleboro, dated 19 Jan. 1710/11. In 1713 he and four of his brothers purchased 100 acres land (8th Lot) on the North side of the Titticut River against Package Neck, from John Bradford (10.340). In 1716 Nathaniel with brothers Benjamin and William purchased land in the "Little Lots Men's Purchase" which they sold to Ebenezer Morton in 1723 (13.88 and 17.92). In 1721 he purchased land on the Namsket River from Benjamin (15.205) and on May 26, 1722 he purchased "land which was my father's" on the first division of the Little Lot Men's Purchase, between Rodulphus Ellms Elms and John Miller (16.620). The last mention of him we have found was in 1724, when as an inhabitant of Middleboro, he united with his brothers in the sale of land (14.147). It is not known if he married and left descendants.

14. CONTENT BARDEN, daughter of William # 1 and Deborah, was born in Middleboro, Mass. about 1691 (her father's estate was not settled until after she became of age in 1713). On 26 Mar. 1725 she married Samuel Leach of Bridgewater (Samuel, Samuel, Giles, Lawrence). Content is mentioned in her mother's will in 1721, she was not married then. Samuel was killed at Crown Point 1756. Only children found on the Bridgewater VR were

18. JAMES BARDEN was perhaps the son of Stephen #5 (William #1) and Abigail Williamson. For years his ancestry has been in doubt. Many of his descendants have searched in vain for his birth record, or some indication of his origin. All agree that he was probably a descendant of William Barden. Some think or thought that he was a son of William #1, but he was not mentioned in his will or in the settlement of his estate. If he was a descendant of William, he must have been a grandson. If so he only likelihood or possibility is that he was a son of Stephen and born in 1693. Stephen married in March 1692 and his first child on record is Sarah born 1695. The first appearance of James Barden on the Vital Records was on 15 May 1717 when he married, in Medfield, Mass., MEHITABLE CLAPP, daughter of THOMAS (Thomas#2, Thomas #1). As James' first three children are on the Medfield VR. It is probable that James removed to Walpole about 1723. Walpole was where the remainder of his children were born, and where James died 23 Dec. 1745. His will 1746 (#8421) mentions ten children. His son Philip was executor. Mehitable, his wife, died 16 April 1758/9.

His son Thomas was born 1639 in Weymouth, settled in Dedham (now Walpole) and married Mary Fisher 1662. His son, Thomas, b. 1663 was a farmer, had a wife Mary, and died 1704. Walpole as a town was set off of Dedham 1724. James Barden was on the very first tax list of the town and was one of the original members of the First Church 1730.

114. The 1800 census of Unadilla, Otsego Co., NY indicates 3 sons under 10 and the 1810 census shows a daughter under 10, all indicating at least 6 sons and 4 daughters. A Mss. in the Salt Lake City Library, "Some Descendants of William Barden," and which is known to err in some respects states that Moses "is said to have had nine sons" and names among his children Abigail, Moses, Oliver, Cyrus, and Albanus. We have added Calvin, Levi and Luther. Calvin was in Prattsfield in 1820 and joined with his brother Moses in buying land in 1833. Levi was living in Pittsfield, Otsego C. near the others (see Deeds). Moses is buried in the Barden Cemetery, Italy Hill, Yates Co., NY about 6 miles north of Prattsburg. His pension certificate was sent to A. Barden Mafield, Italy, Yates Co., NY. The following family has been constructed from the above data. There is no certainty that the list of children is complete or correct. Dates are approximated to fit census data.

238. MOSES BARDEN, son of Moses 14 (James#42, James#18) and Catherine Cook, was born in New Hampshire about 1787 and married MARGARET EDSON, (from deed) she perhaps was a 2nd wife. He and his brother Calvin came to Prattsburg, Stuben Co., NY before 1820 when they were in the federal census. In 1833 they bought land in Italy, Yates Co. near Prattsburg. The following were probably his children:

*520. George	b. 1812, m. Martha _____
*521. Moses N.	b.1818, m. Hannah _____
*522. Luther	b. 1808, perhaps 4 small children with Moses 1850

239. LUTHER BARDEN (Bardin, Bardeen), was probably a son of Moses # 114 and Catherine Cook and was born about 1788 in Croyden, NH. He was on the land records of Plainfield, Otsego Co., NY in 1806 and Lisbon 1808 when he sold his Lisbon property. In 1811 he and his wife AMY were of Fabnis, Onondaga Co. NY. Moses had moved to Otsego Co. before 1800. Luther lived near Moses Jr in 1810 census of Pittsfield, Otsego Co. when he and his wife were over 26 with 2 girls and a boy all under 10.

240. CALVIN BARDEN, son of Moses# 144 (James#42, James# 18) and Catherine Cook, was born about 1793. He came to Stuben Co., NY about the same time as his brother Moses and bought land in Italy in 1833. He was not there in 1850 and may have died. The following children who were under 10 in 1820 census were likely to have been his. Wife's name not known.

*524. George N	b. 1818, m. Maria

241. CYRUS BARDEN is given as a son of Moses# 114 in a Mss. in the S.L.C. Library. There is further evidence by the fact that he was the only Barden with children in Brookfield, Madison Co., NY when Catherine Cook Barden was born in 1817 (see 1820 census). At that time Cyrus had two daughters and a son under 10, he was over 26 and his wife under 26. In a deed dated 1822, Cyrus and his wife Sally of Brookfield sold a parcel of land in Burlington, Otsego Co. In 1811 he is mentioned as of New Lisbon, Otsego Co. It would have been natural for Cyrus to name a daughter Catherine Cook for his mother. In 1822 he married SARAH WILBUR as his 2nd wife. Cyrus died 15 Oct. 1866, age 78. Sally died 19 Sept. 1875, age 80.
